

Now that you have gained certification you may wish to use the WCS certification marks / logos to promote your achievement and communicate your certification to customers and interested parties.

Copies of the logo should have been provided with your Certificate of Registration. Please advise WCS if this is not the case. Do not download logos from websites as they may be the incorrect version for use.

The marks / logos can be used in a variety of ways but please note that there are regulations and rules for their use. It is an accreditation requirement that WCS ensures the logos are used in the correct manner. UKAS and ANAB both have strict regulations covering the use of their accreditation marks and will review WCS controls during accreditation audits.

Consequently, in order to ensure that clients fully understand how logos may be used, the following rules/requirements have been established.
